Did You Know an Investment Committee's Liability for Its Investment Decisions...

... is not necessarily determined by performance results, but rather on whether prudent investment practices were followed?

In other words, an Investment Committee must be able to show decisions were properly and thoroughly considered and that a reasonable determination was made at the time the action was taken that it was consistent with the investment program's objective.

One way to protect yourself and minimize your risk is by observing InvestingByNumbers' Three PILLARS of PRUDENCE®.

- ✓ Make decisions using a prudent PROCESS
- ✓ DOCUMENT actions to show the process was followed
- ✓ Perform OVERSIGHT at reasonable intervals

InvestingByNumbers' Three PILLARS of PRUDENCE® forms the foundation of a sound investment program and can help insulate Investment Committees and their organization from unnecessary exposure to potential liability.
